The Hounds of Hell is a mercenary group that operates in North America. A rag-tag group of people (not necessarily human) with a few common goals and opinions (money+survival = good, coalition = not so much) somehow ended up doing a job together after (accidentally) destroying a tavern or seven.

Over the years they have set up a base of operations in Merc-town with a few new faces and some heavy equipment. There are a few rivalries among each member, but they all seem to tolerate each-other with enough grace to get the spoils divided up.
